

DENIS THROUGH THE DRINKING GLASS

Don't just stand there reading the cassette box. Shell out five and a half quid and get stuck into Ken Livingstone, Norman Tebbit, Mary Whitehouse and all those others from the political jungle. Okay, so doing what you want with Tony Benn doesn't get you through to the next stage of the game, but it makes you feel better, doesn't it.

Your objective is to avoid Maggie, overcome all the horrors you meet and reach the sanctuary of The Gravediggers Arms.

Just be careful about how you treat the Royal Family. My chances of getting an OBE are pretty slim, without you upsetting little Willie and his mum. And I can do without Prince Andrew waiting for me on a dark corner.

If you upset the Pope, on your own head be it. I'm not going into the fiery furnace because of your irreverence. ~~And speaking of the Pope - don't in front of Ian Paisley~~ unless you want a right earful of the Armagh twang.

There isn't a bulletproof vest available in your size, so watch out at Greenham Common if the bullets start to fly.

That's all I'm prepared to tell you about this game except to say that all the usual adventure game instructions are accepted, plus some more that you will have to find out for yourself.

In case you hadn't realised, you take the role of Denis Thatcher. I have chosen for your guide through this adventure that lovable MP from Bolsover, Dennis Skinner.

You can deal with all the monsters in the game, but tangle with the Iron Lady and you won't half get it when she gets you home.

The following are some of the instructions understood by the game. The others you must find out for yourself.

N. NORTH S. SOUTH E. EAST W. WEST NE. NW. SE.
