

FREE SPIRIT SOFTWARE

Here's some learning fun for your children--the Free Spirit series of education games for your computer.

Now even the youngest children can play and learn for hours at a time--without your supervision! Each learning game includes music, animation, sound effects, and a full array of learning activities.

Using interactive sequences and the many learning activities, your children will learn as they play.

Now your children, ages 2-8, can explore the world of computer learning all by themselves. So help your children grow today!
