

SEA ADVENTURE

FOR THE BBC B

● SEA ADVENTURE

● You were sailing in the south seas when your catamaran was holed by killer whales. You managed to launch the lifeboat and are now adrift somewhere at sea. Your task is to return home to England. Sounds simple? This unusual game is an adventure with a difference. It combines both graphics and text. Your journey back to England will take you to strange islands, pirate ships, ghost ships, storms, sea creatures and a whole lot more.

● An added bonus of Sea Adventure is the one key instruction method. All instructions are given (eg move north, pick up, drop) by pressing just one key. No more typing degrees required to play this game!

JOIN THE GANG!

● The Laughing Shark invites you to join the Virgin Games Gang for 1 year – absolutely free – if you complete the application form overleaf and send it to him at 61/63 Portobello Road, London W11 3DD.

○ Gang members receive a quarterly newspaper packed with irrelevant pictures and information and lots of special offers to encourage you to send us money – but there's no need to if you don't want to. So why not join the Gang anyway.

● P.S. You get a little badge too!

● Mike Woodham is a Londoner and admits to being over twenty-one. He became interested in computers following the launch of the Sinclair ZX81 and bought a BBC machine in mid 1983.
 ● In order to learn the more formal side of computing, in 1982, he sat the Open University's Computers and Computing course.
 ● Although computers take up a lot of his time, Mike also enjoys playing rugby, cross country running, pre 1970 pin tables and knitting.
