

Breckenridge Caper of 1798,

by Stephen Cabrinety

The simulation occurs in the era when Napoleon is just beginning to emerge as the power in France. Acting as Ezekiel Breckenridge, a spy in His Majesty's Service, it is your task to offset the intensity of these chaotic times in order to secure the interests of king and country. Whether you have considerable or limited knowledge of European history, you may wish to map out your route. As you proceed through the adventure, keep in mind the fact that it is timed.

All the information required to effectively participate in this adventure is included in the instructions on the diskette.

Helpful Hints

- ★ The adventure introduction gives you three choices:

A     B     C

After selecting your choice, you must press
the  key to continue.

- ★ When you desire to move you must enter only the letter of the direction you select.

example: if you desire to move left, press
the letter

if you desire to move right, press
the letter

- ★ Keep track of your location as you have a limited amount of time to complete your mission.
- ★ You may request an inventory at any time to view what you have collected during the adventure:

1. type in the word inventory
2. press the  key

★ If you fail in your attempt to contact the diplomat, press the RESET key to return to the beginning of the game.

★ If an instruction calls for “Press any key to continue” and the program does not respond, press the key a second time.
