The Mines of Qyntárr -- MS-DOS Version

Function Keys:

The ten function keys [F1] through [F10] can be used to speed up the typing of common game commands as defined in the list below. Note that any command followed by an asterisk (*) in this list will be executed as soon as the appropriate function key is pressed. Commands not followed by an asterisk will be typed as shown here, then the game will wait for you to complete them and press [ENTER].

[F1] -- Save	[F6] -- Again.*
[F2] -- Restore	[F7] -- Take all.*
[F3] -- Wear the	[F8] -- Inventory.*
[F4] -- Remove the	[F9] -- Examine the
[F5] -- Drop all.*	[F10] -- Look around.*

The ESCape Key:

Pressing [ESC] will cause the Quit command to be typed, but not executed. Press [ENTER] if you wish to execute the Quit command to leave the game. If you press [ESC] and [ENTER], then change your mind, you may still cancel execution by pressing [N] when asked if you want to quit.

The Numeric Keypad:

The numeric keypad may be used as a "super shorthand" method of entering movement commands. Think of the keypad as representing the cardinal points in conventional mapmaking: [8] is "north," [6] is "east," [1] is "southwest," and so on. "Up" and "Down" can also be entered with the keypad: [0] (or [INS]) enters "Go up," and [.] (or [DEL]) enters "Go down." Keypad direction commands are executed as soon as a key is pressed.

A little experimentation will quickly make the use of the keypad clear to you.
